

Singlepoint and TruSeal™

Singlepoint is a provider of IT technology and services for digital content security. Its TruSeal™ proprietary, patent-pending technology can authenticate the WHO, WHEN, WHAT of any digital content (documents, video, photos, audio, etc.) and protect the evidential value to meet the highest regulatory and compliance requirements.

TruSeal™ works by providing a digital fingerprint using hashing technology and independent time stamps to enable the verification of the WHO and WHEN and whether the WHAT has been tampered with or changed.

With growing digital content, litigation, the need for evidence protection, global dissemination of content and risks of compromise through hackers, employees, terrorists, etc., TruSeal™ offers an easy to use, robust and cost-effective way to protect your digital assets.

Singlepoint has a background in providing secure services to the UK law enforcement and intelligence community as a trusted third party. TruSeal™ is accredited for UK Government use by CESA, the UK national technical authority for information assurance and an arm of GCHQ, Cheltenham. TruSeal™ is already being used to protect criminal evidence, Sarbanes-Oxley compliant solutions, commercial and insurance contracts and intellectual property.
